About This Game

Acute social subtext about life from the perspective of “Divine Comedy” – this is how the Red and the Deadly Sins is presented by indie-studio Diantong, that consists of two friends-co-founders. Under its uncomplicated design developers hide plenty of allusions about reality, and a journey of a faceless hero is telling another interpretation of Dante Alighieri’s masterpiece.

Explore the underworld, inhabited by evil souls and save them. It is an order of Soul Purging Committee, and that’s what Red will do - an ordinary soldier without a name, face nor past. But even a usual man can clear the world from the Sins if he has enough determination and faith.

Leave your hope anyone who downloads the game:

- Minimalist design. Co-founders of Diantong believe the power of the statement is more important than vivid visual aspect;
- To overcome the Sin is simple, but to understand it’s essence – that’s the trial for the real explorers. Search for the memory shards, in order to know the truth about ancient spirits. To understand what Diantong wanted to say;
- Authentic soundtrack from an independent songwriter Lamark Kane;
- One book is seen differently in various cultures. Inspired by “Divine Comedy”, Diantong blended its vision of Dante’s journey and Chinese philosophy of life (by all means). Developers have put existential and social subtext in everything, from the mask of Red and traps to bosses and game ending.

Interesting game, its early access, still trying to figure out the game,. but if you do play this you should use a controller like xbox or ps4 not really compatible with keys on the keyboard. you can but its tough to play as I have found. they don't tell you what keys to push for your weapon, you need to collect coins in order to buy things and other items along the way. to use your katana click on the letter K on the keyboard you can use wasd keys to walk around spacebar to jump or use your up and down keys as well I key is for inventory, you can click the esc key and then click on help and it tell you all the info that is needed in the game. its a fun game and the graphics are really well done they just need to polish the game with being able to use keyboard a lot better than just using a controller as other may not have one. and give out instructions a little bit more throughout the game. so I hope they continue on developing this game more and more. but so far so good. Its a bit challenging but overall still a fun game to play,
